Two Suspects Undergo Lie Tests in Triple Slaying

Both Deny Any Connection With Murders

Contradictory Answers Lead To Further Tests

CHICAGO (AP)—Two Chicago men who were arrested in an abandoned Wisconsin farm house underwent lie tests today to see if they knew anything about the wanton slaying of three young boys.

The results were inconclusive, it was reported, and police planned to put Charles Driscoll, 19, and Ed Kline, 30, before the lie detector again later today.

The two men were brought 400 miles from Ladysmith, Wis., late Tuesday night. They were immediately hustled into the special headquarters which have been set up to track down the sadistic murderers of Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11.

Both men had already denied any connection with the killings on Chicago's northwest side Oct. 15. But police said they had given contradictory answers during prolonged questioning at Ladysmith and ordered the lie tests to check the truth of their stories.

Saw Murdered Boys
Kline, who quoted Biblical verses to the policemen, was reported as telling one officer that he saw the murdered boys on a Chicago street on the night they vanished.

But he later reversed himself, telling officers at one point that he had spent the evening watching television and saying later that he had gone roller skating with Driscoll on the fatal night.

The men, both unshaven and wearing blue jeans, protested that they had never entered Robinson's Woods, where the murdered boys' nude bodies were found dumped in a ditch Oct. 18.

However, police said they had been informed that Driscoll and Kline frequented riding stables near the woods.

Kline's maroon car also assumed top importance in the investigation. The parents of the Schuessler boys said they had seen a maroon car cruising slowly past their home on the day before the murder. And police found a length of clothesline with stains which might be blood, a blood-stained handkerchief jammed in the sun visor, and other possible clues in the auto.

Cut on Head
Kline, who appeared "disturbed" under questioning, explained that he had used the handkerchief to staunch blood from a cut on his head several months ago.

Funeral Services Thursday for Mrs. Eugene Durant, 69

Funeral services for Mrs. Zelle Durant, 69, resident of Shaw street who died Monday at 11:15 p. m. at her home, will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Turner funeral home where the body lies in state. Rev. William Burroughs, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will officiate and burial will be in the Sunset Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Durant had been in bad health for a year but death was sudden and unexpected. She had returned to her home that morning at 10 o'clock from the hospital. Born Zelle Tellier, she was married to Eugene Durant in Danville in 1900. Mr. Durant passed away in 1949.

Survivors include the following: Five children, Frank, Elkhart, Ind., Joe of Harrisburg, Eugene of Wisconsin, Mrs. Flora Dupont, Taylorville, and Mrs. Mae Foster, Aurora; 20 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren; four sisters and two brothers; Mrs. Mary Caccia, Westville, Mrs. Lizzie Burkley, West Mineral, Kans., Frank Billot, Gus Billot, and Mrs. Louise Ontley, all of Westville, and Mrs. Rose Miller, Chicago.

The Weather

Grief-Stricken Widow Unable to Attend Rites for Slain Woodward

NEW YORK (AP)—Funeral services were held today for multi-millionaire sportsman William Woodward Jr., but his grief-stricken wife, who shot him to death in a "mistaken identity" tragedy, was not among the hundreds of top society and sports figures attending the rites.

Her physician said the shocked wife's condition was still too grave to permit her to attend the services, held in St. James Protestant Episcopal Church on Manhattan's fashionable East Side.

But the former model and showgirl sent a floral tribute—a blanket of white chrysanthemums and red carnations, the colors of his racing stable which included the great thoroughbred, Nashua. And she asked that the choir sing the favorite hymn of his Groton school days, "The Strife Is O'er."

Meanwhile in Nassau County, Dist. Atty. Frank A. Gulotta said Mrs. Woodward, 39, would be asked to re-enact the shooting of her husband if a grand jury decides such a move will help its deliberations. Gulotta said he had no intention of asking the widow to take part in a re-enactment.

Lane Praises Junior Police for Traffic Work

Police Chief Ross Lane today praised the work of the Harrisburg Junior police in handling traffic at the Halloween celebration uptown Monday night.

"The kids were on their own and did a fine job," he stated. "It speaks well of the training they have received from their chief, Eddie Wise."

The square was roped off for the Halloween celebration sponsored by George Hart post of The American Legion and permission had to be received from the state division of highways because it blocked off Routes 13 and 34. To rope off the streets, it was necessary to have people on hand to detour the traffic away from the square, and this is what the Junior police did.

Lane said that the city had a good Halloween this year. He stated that there were a few cases of mischief but not many, and the cases reported were not too serious.

"These uptown Halloween celebrations do a lot of good in keeping the kids out of mischief," he stated. The Legion collects gifts from local merchants and gives prizes for the best costumes, an incentive to keep the children on the uptown streets.

O'Gara Street Paving Project Is Completed

Council Delays Sloan Street Work Until Spring

The West O'Gara street paving project was opened to the public today.

Announcement of its opening was made to the city council yesterday by R. R. Brown, motor fuel tax engineer.

The project runs from Granger street west to the cemetery, with curb and guttering from Granger to the West Harrisburg drainage ditch and open ditch the remainder of the way. The paving is asphalt and chips over a soil cement base.

For the past few weeks the street has been opened from Land to Capital but this morning it was open all the way through.

The job was done by the Leon B. Stille Construction Co. of Marion and was delayed for several weeks by the general shortage of cement. Enough cement was secured to open up the street in the Taylor Field area because of athletic events there.

Stille also has the contract to pave East Sloan from South Main to the highway. Starting this project was discussed at yesterday's council meeting with the consensus being that since winter is so near, the street work should be postponed until early spring.

Levee Maintenance Neglected

It was stated that the street has been oiled and is in pretty good shape for traffic, that if work of laying curb and guttering should start right away, the street would be torn up during the bad part of winter.

Mayor Claud Gibbons read to the council a letter from the U. S. Engineers which said an inspection had been made of the Harrisburg flood protection works and that it was found maintenance had been neglected. The letter said there had been inadequate mowing of the levee, resulting in growth of weeds that was crowding out the erosion-preventing grasses. It said that the sumps at the pumping stations should be cleaned out and that the No. 2 pump at the West Harrisburg station should be examined by a competent person as vibration was occurring when it was started.

Sneed Jordan, commissioner of streets and alleys, told the council in Brushy township, with one well under way and another location staked and some equipment on the spot.

A cable tool rig is spudding and drilling through the coal workings of Peabody 43 mine on the Walter Unsell farm, formerly owned by John Small.

The location is in the south half of NW NE 4-9-5, generally described as immediately west of the Steve Cotton farm on the Route 13-Harco blacktop road. The John Stelle Associates cable tool rig is supervised by John Oliver. It is understood a Calvert rotary will move to the location during this week.

E. E. Rehn has the lease block in the area.

After finishing at the location, the spudder rig will move to the farm known as the old Will Isaacs place west of Neal school to a location in NW NE 4-9-5. Ben H. Nation has a block of leases in this area.

Soviet Proposal Calls for 'All-German Council' to Represent Nation's People

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Russia called today for establishment of an "all-German council" to represent the German people while that country remains divided.

In an obviously "loaded" proposal designed to force the Bonn republic to recognize Communist East Germany, the Soviets urged setting up such a council composed of members of both West and East German parliaments.

It would be consultative but could represent the whole German people, the Soviet proposal said. This would be so not only in coordinating the political and cultural life of the divided nation, but also in cooperation with other countries "in the consolidation of peace."

The Soviet Plan
The Soviet plan proposed that:

1. The all-German council should be a consultative body composed of members of the West and East German parliaments to discuss matters interesting to both German states.
2. Mixed committees should be set up on matters relating to economic and cultural ties between the two German states, and currency, intra-German financial transactions, customs, post and telegraph and transportation.
3. The council should agree on the size of the armed forces of West and East Germany, and so scaling them down.

New Oil Well Near McLeansboro Flowing 1,104 Barrels Day
MCLEANSBORO, Ill. (AP)—An oil well just completed 10 miles southwest of here is flowing 1,104 barrels of oil and no water per day.

The well is the Carter Oil Company's Foster Community No. 22, drilled to more than 3,200 feet into the Aux Vases Sands. It was completed Tuesday.

New Wildcat Oil Activity in Brushy Township

A new area of wildcat activity in oil testing in Saline county has begun in Brushy township, with one well under way and another location staked and some equipment on the spot.

A cable tool rig is spudding and drilling through the coal workings of Peabody 43 mine on the Walter Unsell farm, formerly owned by John Small.

The location is in the south half of NW NE 4-9-5, generally described as immediately west of the Steve Cotton farm on the Route 13-Harco blacktop road. The John Stelle Associates cable tool rig is supervised by John Oliver. It is understood a Calvert rotary will move to the location during this week.

West and East Germany, and so scaling them down.

4. The council should agree on matters connected with participation of the two Germanies "in measures designed to consolidate European security" and on the "prerequisites for the unification of Germany as a peaceful and democratic state."

The Moscow plan was presented to the fifth session of the Big Four foreign ministers conference by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Ask Quick Showdown
It came shortly after U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan decided to call for a swift showdown with Russia on the question of German unity.

A high Western source said the Western ministers agreed to:

1. Keep challenging Molotov to say yes or no on German unity.
2. Listen politely to anything additional he says on security and then hit back with renewed demands for a statement on Germany.
3. Refuse to comment on Russian security proposals or enter into any debate on security until Molotov lays his German cards on the table.

Bridge Approach Near Completion At Shawneetown

The J. D. Barter Construction Co. of Harrisburg is nearing completion on the huge job of building and paving the Illinois approach to the Ohio river bridge under construction at Shawneetown, it was learned today.

Reports were that the 2.45 miles of paving on the approach is complete except for two spurs leading from Route 13 up to the new pavement on the approach. One of these is a short distance east of the new town, the other just out of the old town.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the bridge itself, called the Earle Clements bridge in honor of the Morganfield resident who pushed the bridge plans to completion during his term as governor of Kentucky and who now is a U. S. Senator, is 79 per cent complete and is scheduled to be opened to traffic around April 1 at a cost of $4,700,000.

Tolls, it also was learned at Sturgis, will be collected for a period of approximately 10 years before the bonds are paid out. Yesterday a new steel toll house was rolled onto the approach and is ready to be placed on the Kentucky side of the bridge.

The bridge roadway will be 24 feet wide and concrete flooring has been started on the Kentucky side of the bridge. Most of the steel work is up, and the concrete floor pouring will be done "in balance" from one end to the other. The bridge span is 3,200 feet in length.

Airborne Invasion Film at Joint Civic Club Meeting

An Army film showing the actual airborne invasion of France during World War II was shown to members of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs and Junior Chamber of Commerce last night in a joint meeting held at the Masonic temple.

The program was in charge of Lt. Col. C. C. Sprung of the Army Reserve, who arranged for the film with the Marion Sub-Office of the Illinois Military District. Maj. E. Earhart of the Marion office was in charge of the showing of the film.

The film was released through the Illinois Military district as a public relations program to keep the public informed on the theme, "This Is Your Army."

Dan Davis, president of the Kiwanis club, presided at the joint meeting and members of the local civic clubs were introduced by Presidents John R. Small of the Jaycees, William Hopkins of the Rotary club, Jesse Gibbons of the Lions club and Dan Davis of the Kiwanis club.

Buddy Dorris was a Kiwanis guest of his father-in-law, Cecil Pulliam.

ELOPES — Nina "Honeybear" Warren, 22, youngest daughter of Chief Justice Earl Warren, eloped and was married to Dr. Stuart Brien, 33, Beverly Hills physician, at Las Vegas, Nev., last night.

Nina Warren, Surgeon Elope

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Nina (Honeybear) Warren, 22, youngest daughter of Chief Justice Earl Warren, eloped with a Beverly Hills, Calif., surgeon, Dr. Stuart Brien, 33, and was married here Tuesday night.

It was the first marriage for both.

The couple obtained a marriage license in Santa Monica, Calif., on Monday but said that any announcement of the date or place of their marriage would come from her parents in Washington, D. C.

After the marriage ceremony, the couple talked to her parents on the telephone. They refused to say how the chief justice received the news of the elopement.

Miss Warren, the youngest of the chief justice's three daughters, was stricken with polio in 1950 but since has recovered.

3 American Scientists Win Nobel Prizes

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Two American scientists won the 1955 Nobel prize for physics today and a third won the prize for chemistry.

Dr. Vincent du Vigneaud of Cornell University was awarded the chemistry prize for discovering a process to make synthetic hormones.

Prof. Willis E. Lamb of Stanford University and Prof. Polykarp Kusch of Columbia University won the physics prize for their work in nuclear research.

Du Vigneaud will receive $36,720 and a certificate. Lamb and Kusch will share a similar amount.

Awards will be made by King Gustav Adolf of Sweden in Stockholm, Dec. 10.

Du Vigneaud, a 54-year-old biochemist who lives at Scarsdale, N. Y., heads the biochemistry department of Cornell University Medical School in New York. He won the award for his years of work which led to his discovery of how to purify hormones produced by the all-important pituitary gland which affects body growth and stimulation of the sex organs.

Lamb, 42, lives at Palo Alto, Calif., with his wife. Reached at his home, he said he was "delighted and pleased" to receive the prize.

Lamb and Kusch made the discoveries that won the prize while working at the Columbia University Institute under Prof. Isidor Rabi, a physics prize winner in 1944.

Both Lamb and Kusch, while working with Rabi, perfected electronic devices and helped develop radar during World War II.

Takes Two To State Farm
Deputy Sheriff Everett N. Sneed today took Joe Quick of Eldorado and William "Pete" Riley of Moorehouse, Mo., to the state farm at Vandalia, to start serving terms the two received in county court. Each received six months terms, Quick for writing a fraudulent check, Riley for driving while intoxicated.

One Child, 14 Women Among Passengers

Plane, En Route To Seattle, Crashes After Leaving Denver

LONGMONT, Colo. (AP)—A United Air Lines four-engine DC-6B airliner crashed in a flaming explosion on a farm 30 miles east of the Rocky Mountain foothills on Tuesday night, killing all 44 persons aboard.

Among the 39 passengers who lost their lives were at least one child and 14 women besides the crew.

A United Air Lines spokesman in Denver said today its investigators had not been able to confirm reports that the plane exploded in the air before it crashed.

Three top officials of the Civil Aeronautics Administration will fly to Denver today from Washington to begin an investigation of the crash.

The plane, United's Flight 629 enroute from New York to Seattle, Wash., had taken off from Denver's Stapleton Municipal Airport for a 1,075-mile non-stop flight to Portland, Ore., less than a half hour before it crashed at 7:10 p. m. MST (9:10 p. m. EST) in a sugar beet field eight miles east of here. Searchers Find Bodies

Three hours after the crash, searchers had accounted for the bodies of all the victims among the littered wreckage, which was scattered over a two-mile area.

There was no immediate explanation of the tragedy, the second major airliner accident in less than a month. The other, on Oct. 6, also involved a United Air Lines plane, a DC-4, which smashed into 12,025-foot Medicine Bow Peak in Southern Wyoming killing 66 persons in the nation's worst civil aviation disaster. The Wyoming crash site is about 100 miles northwest of Longmont.

The weather was clear in the vicinity of Tuesday night's accident although it was cold—about 34 degrees—and there had been light snowfall in the region in the afternoon.

The plane's crew members were identified by United Air Lines as Capt. Lee H. Hall, 38, the pilot; D. A. White, 26, the first officer; S. F. Arthur, 28, the pilot-engineer; and stewardesses Peggy Peddicord and Jacqueline Hinds, all of Seattle.

Mother And Child
A mother, identified only as a Mrs. Fitzpatrick of Batavia, N. Y., and her infant child also were among the victims.

One of the dead was a member of the armed services, not otherwise identified. Another was a nationally-known nutrition expert, Dr. Harold Sanstead, deputy secretary of the U. S. Public Health Service.

At least five others among the passengers were United Air Lines employees, including F. E. Ambrose, a United Air Lines reservations agent in Seattle; and Barbara J. Cruse and Sally Ann Scofield, both of Denver, who were stewardesses.

A farmer, Paul Knutson, 53, who lives about five miles south of the crash site said he saw a "ball of fire" traveling about 2,000 feet altitude across the sky and then heard the sound of airplane engines. He watched the blazing plane for at least two minutes before it disappeared from his view.

The plane crashed near the home of Conrad Hopp Jr., 47, a farmer who said he heard a loud explosion that sounded like a "bomb" and saw the plane approaching in flames.

Crashed In Beetfield
Hopp phoned directions to police and while he was talking his son, Conrad Dale, 18, ran in to report the plane had crashed in the beet field adjacent to the house.

Hopp said he got into his truck and drove out into the field "trying to find someone who needed help, but everyone I came to was dead."

He and his son said bodies were scattered everywhere in the field.

The force of the crash left three big craters in the field about 50 yards apart, made by two of the plane's four engines and the nose section of the fuselage.

The pieces of the plane were scattered from this spot for about two miles to the south near the river where the tail section of the plane was located. Dead were lying all along this grisly route.

Dr. Gaskins Sells Home on O'Gara Street To Mrs. Harold Empson

Dr. James W. Gaskins has sold his modern home at 326 West O'Gara street to Mrs. Annary Empson, who will occupy it as her residence. This real estate transaction was made by Hauptmann Real Estate.

Dr. Gaskins and family now reside at 103 North Webster. Mrs. Empson, widow of the late Harold Empson, is a nurse employed in the office of Dr. N. A. Herrmann.

Wilson Plant Workers Take Severance Pay in Preference to Transfer

CHICAGO (AP) — Most CIO United Packinghouse Workers chose severance pay in preference to transferring to Wilson and Co. pack-ingplants in three other Midwestern cities, the company said today.

Wilson, the nation's third largest meat packer, announced in mid-August that it would abandon its Chicago plant and move the operations to Albert Lea, Minn., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Omaha, Neb.
Workers were told they could transfer with the operation, but few of the union men chose to do so.

The company said about 400 employees, mostly those in supervisory jobs or office workers, have left Chicago or will do so.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: U.
S. Expects Full-Scale War In Near East; Senators' Wives
Unenthusiastic About Future
Traveling; Warren-Eisenhower Ticket Wins Support.

WASHINGTON. — What's happening in the Near East may well be what assistant Secretary of State George Allen predicted when he tried, unsuccessfully, to dissuade Premier Nasser from the Czech arms deal. Allen warned that Israel would never sit still waiting for Egypt to get armed, would take the initiative. He also warned that the well-armed, determined little Israeli army could march right into Cairo. . . . Nasser didn't listen. He's gone ahead with a new deal by which six Russian submarines plus Russian destroyers will go to Egypt. . . .
Meanwhile 200 jet fighters enroute from Russia to Egypt are bogged down on Rumanian airfields because neither Turkey, Greece nor Cyprus will give them refueling permits. Jets can't fly far without refueling.

If the Pan American Union wants to continue as the dynamic force it was under the late Carlos Davila, it should bring ex-Ambassador Zuleta of Colombia back to Washington to replace Davila. For years the Union was a nice complacent organization to promote stereotypical slides to women's clubs and tropical parakeets in rations. Under Davila it became a dynamic force to stop war. . . .
Some Latin Americans would just as soon let it become complacent again. Ex-Ambassador Zuleta would not let that happen. . . . John Foster Dulles will hand Marshall Tito an invitation to visit Washington when Dulles goes to Yugoslavia November 6. However, the invite won't be valid until after the 1956 elections. (Might be too much reaction from Ito-American voters). . . . Pardo Llada, the Cuban columnist who has been screaming at dictators for years, has now — believe it or not — become enthusiastic about Dictator Peron. . . . Another dictator, meanwhile, has become quite unenthusiastic about Peron. Franco of Spain has been warned by his army leaders not to let Peron exile in Spain. Word has been sent to the deposed Argentine that Peron might be happier in Portugal with Prince Umberto of Italy.

SENATORS' RELATIVES

When Senator Stennis of Mississippi got home on a MATS government plane he felt rather unhappy about having taken his wife with him on the plane and offered to reimburse the government.
The government said: "Delighted." . . . Mrs. McClelland of Arkansas, wife of the third traveling senator, did not come home on a government plane. When the hubaloo broke out about the two special Air Force planes ordered across the Atlantic for three senators, she went to the Spanish Air Line in Madrid and bought two commercial tickets for herself and husband. Senator McClelland, however, declined. He said he hadn't done anything wrong and he would come home by MATS. He was on official business, he said, and he would occupy one seat in a regular transport plane. . . . Mrs.

McClelland insisted that she would come back commercial, so boarded the Spanish plane. Over the Atlantic, however, a motor caught on fire, they had to turn back. No one was hurt, but Mrs. McClelland, shaken up by all these events, figures next time she'll just as soon stay at home.

Senator Welker has been going around Idaho trying to alibi for putting his relatives on the payroll. However, he's carefully omitting some of his relatives, among them his sister-in-law Eloise Welker, and his brother-in-law Neal D. Nelson, who used to work in Welker's office and for whom Herman got a job as regional director of land management in Salt Lake City. . . . Brother Ted Welker, an ex-truck driver, whom the senator put on the payroll at $5,200 a year, had nothing to do except sit in Idaho, answer a few letters and visit relatives in the East.
When this column called attention to Welker's nepotism, brother Ted resigned. . . . Senator Welker has been touring Idaho in his own private plane — only senator to possess a private plane.

FARM-GO-ROUND

There was much more than meets the eye behind that sudden press conference called by Secretary of Agriculture Benson to deny any cabinet row over farm policies. . . . What the public didn't realize is that Benson's own public relations man is Robert Mc-Millen, who until one year ago was Washington editor of the same Farm Journal whose story Benson denied. McMillen, though now working for Benson, is still close to the Farm Journal. His father, Wheeler McMillen, close friend of Benson's, would never publish anything about a Benson cabinet row unless the source of the story was virtually Benson himself. . . .
The Farm Journal is owned by the Pew family of Philadelphia, owners of the Sun Oil Company, the Sun Ship company, and other big interests. The Pew usually contribute around $100,000 to the Republican campaign during election years and Sunoco's nightly radio program, "Three Star Extra," reflects the politics of the sponsors. . . . However, the Eisenhower administration's Federal Trade Commission has just caused trouble for the Pews by bringing a "show cause" order against the Farm Journal for buying the Country Gentleman. This leaves no other national farm paper in the U. S. A., and the trade commission contends it makes for monopoly of farm news and opinion in the agricultural field. So the Pews will have to show otherwise if they are to dominate farm news by continuing publication of the newly acquired Country Gentleman.

POLITICAL-GO-ROUND

More and more sentiment is building up among top Republicans for a Chief Justice Warren-Milton Eisenhower ticket. They believe the chief justice would consent to run if asked personally by the President. . . . Warren would have the South solidly against him because of his Supreme Court opinion on segregation, but the Republicans figure on losing the South this time anyway. Warren, on the other hand, would win a lot of Democratic votes in the north. . . .
Milton Eisenhower, long-time
New Dealer under Henry Wallace, was once described by his brother Ike: "Milton has the brains in the family." . . . Milton once described his brother Ike to Secretary of the Interior Leake: "He's not too smart but he's wonderful at getting a lot of people together and making them agree." . . . The President has sometimes said privately that the best possible man to take over the White House is Gen. Al Gruenther, his chief of staff in Paris, now head of SHAPE. . . . Gruenther has the admiration of every American who has watched him in Paris — plus European leaders. However, it's doubtful the GOP convention would go for another military man at this time.

Revival to Begin
Sunday Evening

The new pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy, Rev. William Hendricks, will hold a revival at the church beginning Sunday evening, Nov. 6. He will be assisted by the state overseer, John W.
Miracle, and Mrs. Miracle.

Special music will be heard each evening with singers coming from Eldorado and Marion.
Everyone is welcome.

Traffic deaths to date are twice the total of deaths in all wars in U. S. history.

Mountain Home Bureau
Unit Meets With
Mrs. LaVerne Hathaway

The Mountain Home Bureau unit met at the home of LaVerne Hathaway recently all day with a pot-luck dinner at the noon hour. The morning was spent in making a quilt top which was completed by noon.

After a delicious dinner the meeting was called to order by Mrs.
Wilma Harbison.

The major topic, "Investments for Family Security," was presented by Mrs. Velma Gasaway of Pan-keyville. A drive for new members was discussed, and the group decided to send flowers to Mrs.
Nora Church who is ill.

Members present were Pearl Hanney, Mayme Buchanan, Lura Hicks, Glady's Williams, Wilma Harbison.

Hazel Driskell and Mary Lee Adams, Velma Gasaway, Pankey-ville, Irene Langford, Liberty, and Mary Harper, Sulphur Springs, were visitors.

Hostesses were Mrs. Hathaway and daughter, LaNelle.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hathaway.

Barbara Jane Williams spent one night this week with Mary Ellen Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Slim Stricklin and family and Mr. and Mrs. Newt Church have called this week with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Oxford and sons, Lowell and Charles.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gulley have moved from the Dr. Herrmann farm to Mitchellville.

New seats have been installed in Somerset school recently. Installation was done by Hardin Evans of Harrisburg. The ladies of the district met and painted the school kitchen this week. Hot dogs and cold drinks were served at noon. A Halloween party was held in the afternoon with everyone being masked.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Driskell attended the farm auction of J. W.
Roberts, north of Raleigh, near the "Jot-un-down" store, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lane and daughter, Brenda, of Pankeyville, and Mrs. Ada Lane visited last week with Mrs. Fannie Driskell.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Steapleton have been Mr. and Mrs.
Lacy Hubbard and Mr. and Mrs.
George Myers of Pankeyville, and Mr. and Mrs. Shell of Harrisburg.

John Adams called one day this week with his uncle, Andy Brandon of Eldorado.

Miss LaNora Strong of Shawnee was a house guest last week with his sister, Dot Oxford.

Those who called Tuesday with Pearl Haney were Mary Lee Adams, Glady's Driskell, Dot Oxford and Rev. Clyde Vinyard.

A Purina party was held Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Haney. A movie was shown on raising pigs with Billie Dale Haney demonstrating the Purina hog feed. Present were Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hathaway, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Williams, Joan Haney and John Ewell and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. William Hanney, and family. Refreshments were served.

'King Dad' to Be Crowned at U. of Illinois

Dad will be king this week—in fact one even will be crowned—at the University of Illinois. The crowned "King Dad," selected by all students, honored in the annual lot, will represent the fathers of Dads Day festivities.

This is the campus where the idea of Dads Day originated, back in 1920, and the students will go all out to make the anniversary remembered.

A highlight of the weekend will be the annual meeting of the University of Illinois Dads Association, largest organization of its kind in the world. This meeting will be Saturday morning. The association's county chairmen will meet Friday night.

Saline county chairmen are Dr.
B. G. Funkhouser, Eldorado, and Delmas Tison, Eldorado. Gallatin chairman is Daniel J. Maloney, Ridgway.

Other events of Friday night include a torchlight parade, pep rally, Dads Day revue, theater production, and water show. The Dads Association, in addition to its meeting Saturday, will have a Saturday noon luncheon in Huff Gymnasium.

In the evening, after the Illinois-Michigan football game, entertainments of Friday night will be repeated, with the addition of a concert by the University Choir, Barbershoppers Quartette concert, and the annual Little International Horse Show.

Sunday morning the Dads will be honored as they attend services in campus churches with their children.

Cash farm income during the first five months of 1955 fell three per cent below a year ago for the country as a whole.

EXCHANGE WEDDING VOWS IN ALTON—Mr. and Mrs. William B. Bryant were married in a double ring ceremony Sept. 24 at the Curdie Heights Baptist church in Alton. Mrs. Bryant is the former Miss Edna Hancock.

Miss Edna Hancock
Weds William Bryant
At Baptist Church in Alton

Curdie Heights Baptist church in Alton was the scene Saturday evening, Sept. 24, at 7 o'clock for the double ring ceremony read by the Rev. Leonard Simmons for Miss Edna Hancock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Hancock of Harrisburg, and William B. Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bryant of Alton.

Mrs. Franklin Russell, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Robert Bryant, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Lewis W. Hancock, brother of the bride, and Robert Hussman, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bridal gown of turquoise blue was ballerina length, made along princess lines. The bride wore white accessories, and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums centered with a white orchid.

Her sister wore a frock of cocoa brown, also styled with princess lines, and pink accessories. Mrs. Russell's flowers were yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Arrangements of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the sanctuary, and nuptial music included "I Love You Truly" and "Because" played by Miss Mary Snyder, organist.

The wedding reception was held in the Teamsters and Chauffeurs hall in Alton at 8 o'clock. Assisting were Miss Patricia Achenbach, Mrs. Gloria Griffin and Mrs. Dorothy Hancock.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant will reside at 3625 Coronado drive, Alton, after a wedding trip.

A 1932 graduate of Alton high school Mr. Bryant spent two years in the armed forces. He is an employee of Laclede Steel Co. His bride, a 1934 graduate of Harrisburg Township high school, is employed at St. Joseph's hospital.

Mrs. Eunice Reynolds has returned from visiting in St. Louis, Bloomfield and Dudley, Mo. She spent three days in St. Louis visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. Ceburn Jarrell and family, and in Bloomfield visited her cousin, Hazel Hughes, and an aunt, Mrs. Alla Moore. In Dudley she visited her sister, Mrs. Hughie Rieley, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore.

Public Health Official Among Plane Victims

LONGMONT, Colo. (AP)—Dr. Harold Sandstead, deputy secretary of the U. S. Public Health Service, was killed in the crash of a DC6B Tuesday night while en route to give a speech at Corvallis, Ore.

Sandstead, a nationally known nutrition research expert, had directed nutritional studies in both the Middle and Far East.

He was scheduled to address the sixth annual Institute on the Far East and World Affairs at Oregon State College here. His speech was to be on the health situation in the Far East and its relation to world affairs and peace, university officials said.

Sandstead's survivors include a brother, Russell, and a sister, Mrs. Jo Stewart, both residents of Paris, Ill.

Public notice is hereby given to the said Huntington Van Dresser, that a Writ of Attachment issued out of the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Saline County, Illinois, dated the 1st day of November, 1955, at the suit of Kenneth E. McCoy, Mrs. Emery McCoy, d/b/a E. E. McCoy and Sons against Huntington Van Dresser for the sum of $2,000.00, directed to the Sheriff of Saline County, Illinois, which said writ has been returned executed.
Now, therefore, unless you, Huntington Van Dresser, shall personally be and appear before the Circuit Court of Saline County, Illinois, on or before the 5th day of December, 1955, at the courthouse in the City of Harrisburg, Illinois, and give special bail and plead to the plaintiff's action, judgment will be entered against you and in favor of said plaintiffs and so much of the property attached as may be sufficient to satisfy the judgment and costs will be sold to satisfy the same.
Dated this 2nd day of November, 1955.
QUENTIN BOWERS
Clerk of the Circuit Court of Saline County, Illinois.

In Remembrance
In loving memory of John C. Ward, who was killed in a mine accident Nov. 2, 1949.
Memories are treasures no one can steal.
Death is a heartache no one can heal.
Some may forget you now that you're gone,
But we will remember no matter how long.
Sadly missed by mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ward, brother and sisters. *108-1

Surgeons Hit Menace of Careless Driver

CHICAGO (AP)—An American College of Surgeons group was told Tuesday that careless drivers are America's "sixth columnists."

Ross A. McFarland, associate professor of industrial hygiene at Harvard university's public health school, said "this kind of driver is a bigger menace than the drunk driver because he generally has the use of his senses."

He spoke before a symposium on injuries meeting in conjunction with the 41st congress of the American College of Surgeons. About 6,000 surgeons are attending the convention, which lasts through Friday.

John O. Moore, director of automotive crash injury research at Cornell university medical college, told the symposium that within 10 years all new cars will be equipped with maximum safety devices.

The safety belt is "the most fundamental" of these new developments, Moore said. The belts, together with other devices, should reduce traffic injuries 60 per cent, he predicted.

In papers delivered before the congress today, two Pittsburgh, Pa., doctors reported that the preservative used in blood banks may be the cause of bleeding which sometimes occurs in patients receiving massive transfusions during operations.

In another report, a team of De-however, that long questioning of the prisoner and a visit with him to the 30-acre Woodward estate failed to indicate that he had been on the Woodward property the night of the tragedy.

Discrepancies In Story

Gulotta said he intends to question Mrs. Woodward, an ex-model and showgirl of humble Pittsburg, Kan., origin, again today concerning discrepancies in her version of the slaying.

Those who knew Mrs. Woodward best agreed with the contradictory personality profiles of her that police have compiled by questioning her family, friends, servants, and the private detectives she had hired for the past seven years to keep tab on her husband's suspected but never proven "extra-curricular love life." The two portraits were summarized thus:

1. The devoted wife and mother who shared her husband's racing and game hunting interests and moved with ease and popularity in the exclusive international social circles to which she was not born.
2. The hysterically jealous wife and mother who absented herself from her home for months-long sojourns abroad. This portrait

Confirm A-Device Cannot Be Set Off Accidentally

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission's first field "safety" test today confirmed laboratory theories that an atomic device can not be triggered accidentally.

It took two announcements by the AEC Tuesday to make it clear that a high explosive charge set off next to an atomic device failed to detonate it. The test, involving miniature atomic weapons, was the first in a series to verify scientists' theories that nuclear devices can not be set off by impact of a blast or fire.

The test on the Nevada proving ground 65 miles northwest of here was neither seen nor heard here. No troops, civilian defense personnel or observers participated in the test, supervised by scientists from the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic laboratories.

The AEC termed the tests "routine," but refused to announce when it planned to hold each one in the current series.

AEC spokesmen have denied reports that the tests actually are for new "side-arm" atomic weapons for battlefield use.

Arms Shipments to Egypt May Affect NATO, Gruenther Says

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, NATO supreme commander, believes Communist arms shipments to Egypt may affect plans of the North Atlantic defense alliance.

"But this depends on future circumstances," Gruenther told a press conference at Wheelus Field near here Tuesday. "Egypt and Israel are on our flanks."

He denied that NATO arms are being used in North Africa where France is battling nationalist terrorists.

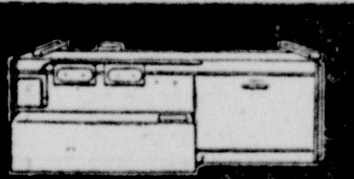

Gruenther said that NATO's main object is to have forces to prevent aggression and as a defensive alliance its strength had multiplied five times since 1951. He said entrance of West Germany strengthened the treaty group.

Major Convicted Of Collaboration Asks Light Sentence

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—Maj. Ronald E. Alley, convicted by an Army court-martial of collaborating with his Communist captors in Korea, pleaded for a light sentence today on the ground that he "had no choice" but to go along with the Reds.

Alley did not make his plea in person, as his attorneys had indicated he might. Instead, defense counsel James Brandvick told the court, in his behalf, that Alley "feels if he is guilty so are practically all" of the other Americans who were in his prison camp.

Sentencing of Alley, who faces a possible maximum penalty of life imprisonment, was delayed indefinitely while the court heard argument on whether there were "mitigating circumstances" to justify leniency.

Hunters Warned To Be On Guard Against Tularemia

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Hunters and other persons who handle wild rabbits and other game were warned today by Dr. Roland R. Cross, state health director, to take precautions against tularemia.

Although the infection is known to exist in wild fowl, pheasant and quail and to be transmitted by ticks, flies and other blood-sucking insects, state health department officials say that most cases of tularemia in Illinois are traced to the common cottontail rabbit.

Usually a marked rise in prevalence of the disease is noted during the rabbit hunting season. Hunting dates this year are Nov. 26 to Jan. 20.

Last year 101 cases of tularemia were reported to the Illinois Department of Public Health, compared to only 29 cases during 1953. Fifty-three of last year's cases were reported in November and December.

This year's count is 28 cases on record at the end of last week, only one less than the 1953 total.

State health officials believe the currently low death rate of the disease—two deaths in Illinois during the last five years—reflects the increasing use of antibiotics in its treatment.

Because humans contract tularemia through germs coming into contact with abrasions of the skin, through the mucous membrane or

Sachs Ready to Run for Governor 'If People Want Me'

CHICAGO (AP)—City Treasurer Morris B. Sachs said today he would run for governor "if the people want me."

Sachs, a Democrat, said he would run for "any office the people want me to run for."

Sachs, a clothing merchant who only recently turned to politics, said he felt his business background would make him a good candidate for governor.

Other Democrats mentioned as possible candidates for governor include Cook County Treasurer Herbert Paschen and Stephen Mitchell, former Democratic National committee chairman.

Sachs said government is "big business," and that a businessman could do a better job than someone who has no business background.

Really Tiny

The young of kangaroos, animals which grow to seven feet in height, and may weigh 300 pounds, are less than an inch long at birth.

Through the eyes, Dr. Cross urged housewives, hunters and persons who prepare wild rabbits for market to be extremely careful in handling the game.

The wearing of rubber gloves while dressing the animals gives some degree of protection, health officials say.

Rabbits infected by tularemia may be recognized by their slow movements. Sportsmen should avoid shooting such animals.

Instruct Children On Safety Rules

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Set up safety rules for children and help save their lives.

"Children who obey authority — the school patrolman, policeman, teacher or bus driver — are most likely to return home safely," said O. L. Hogsett, safety specialist at the University of Illinois Agriculture college.

Youngsters who walk to school must be taught where and how to cross the street or road, he said.

If there are no sidewalks, Hogsett said, parents should train the child to walk on the left-hand shoulder of the road so he can see oncoming cars. And a bright jacket or cap will help the drivers see the child.

Bicyclers must be taught to obey traffic signs, and to be ready to give way to thoughtless or careless drivers. They should pedal in the right lane, close to the curb or the road's edge.

Children who ride a school bus should be taught: 1. Obey the driver. 2. Be careful of the traffic when entering or leaving the bus—there's always a chance a motorist won't stop when the bus does.

State Police Stage Ax-Swinging Gambling Raid

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—State police Tuesday night staged an ax-swinging raid on the gambling casino at Club Prevue, a night club on U. S. 40 near Fairmount Race Track.

A dozen officers, led by Lt. Eliza Brantley, broke down the locked entrance door with axes.

They then chopped up 3 dice tables, 2 blackjack tables and a roulette wheel as about 55 persons looked on.

Dice, poker chips and other gambling paraphernalia was confiscated as evidence.

None of the patrons were arrested. However, police took into custody a man who gave his name as Robert Dunne. At the Collinsville police station, he was booked suspected of possession of gambling equipment. Dunne gave an East St. Louis address.

Stevenson to Visit Family Farm

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson will pay a visit to Bloomington, Ill., this weekend, his office said today.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee will go to Bloomington Friday to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Bloomington Pantagraph, in which he holds stock.

He will visit the Stevenson family farm near Bloomington Saturday and have lunch with his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ives, at her Bloomington home Saturday. Mrs. Ives is giving a reception for him that evening.

Stevenson's next speech is scheduled for Nov. 11 at Charlottesville, Va., at a University of Virginia affair marking the centennial of Woodrow Wilson's birth.

Non Striker Reports Beating

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP)—A non-striking Perfect Circle Corp. employee told police Tuesday that three hooded men ambushed and beat him on the back porch of his home.

It was the first report of violence here since a gunfight broke out Oct. 5 between 1,000 strikers and sympathizers and 100 non-strikers entrenched in the Perfect Circle foundry.

Nine persons were wounded in the battle and martial law enforced by 1,000 National Guardsmen, was imposed for a while on the area.

Kenneth McCarty, 30, said he was called a "scab" and threatened with death in the new attack Monday night.

Pre-war Japan was one of the world's leading industrial nations and the only country in the Far East with highly developed textile, steel, machinery-building, chemical and electrical industries.

Weather Patrol

Seven ships operated by the United States, Canada and Japan endlessly cruise in tiny circles in the north Pacific to report weather conditions every three hours. Scarcity of islands in the area makes the ships necessary as weather stations.

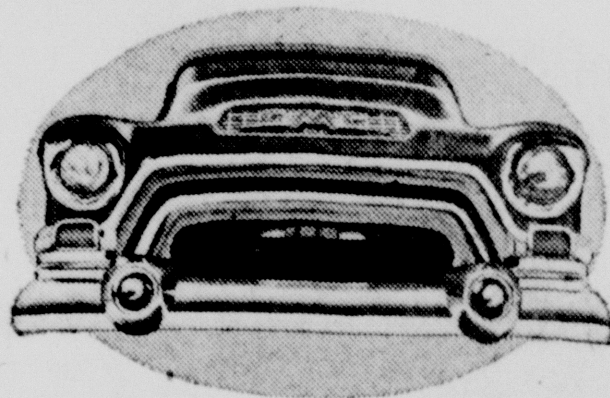

Statistics reveal that women live 10 per cent longer than men, on the average.

ILLINOIS LIONS LEADERS escort Mary Garcia, instructor from the Hadley School for the Blind, Winnetka, Ill., to Rochester, Mich., where she will attend the Leader Dog School for intensive training to learn to use a Leader Dog. This trip was the "kickoff" for the "Be Thankful You Can See" campaign of the Illinois Lions Blind Activities committee which is conducting a fund-raising campaign during the month of November to support the Leader Dog School and the Hadley School for the Blind. In the picture center: Miss Garcia stands with Harry Semrow (at her right), chairman of the committee, and Richard Kinney, blind and deaf instructor at the Hadley school, who carries in his hand the Tellatouch machine which he uses for communication. Surrounding these three are the district chairmen of the Lions Blind committee from throughout the state. Lower left: Robert Rote, Rock Island, Illinois District chairman, is being led by Leader Dog with the help of Chief Instructor, Fred Maynard, around the obstacle course that each blind person learns to go over, as State Chairman Semrow looks on. Lower right: District Chairman Edward Douvia, Morris, talks with blind and deaf Richard Kinney through the Tellatouch machine. The 400 Lions clubs of Illinois with more than 24,000 members actively support the Leader Dogs School for the Blind and the Hadley School for the Blind. These two organizations have contributed greatly to helping the blind in Illinois for many years. November has been designated as "Help the Blind" month with special emphasis on Thanksgiving week which has been titled "Be Thankful You Can See Week." All money received by the Lions will be equally divided between the two schools.

Call for Ike Decision Indicates Some GOP Fear Nixon Gaining Long Lead

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The call for early public announcement whether President Eisenhower will run again suggests that some Republicans believe Vice President Richard M. Nixon is gaining a long lead on the field.

Mr. Eisenhower has done nothing to divert public attention from Nixon or to weaken public confidence in his young friend. On the contrary, before and during his illness, the President's liking for and dependence on Nixon have been freely and enthusiastically acknowledged. Mr. Eisenhower now might almost be said to be giving Nixon a build-up looking toward his possible nomination for President next year.

However that may be, the vice president can accept the role to which the President, himself, has assigned him without being liable to the accusation that he is campaigning for the nomination. No Republican can go out for the nomination just now. They must know Mr. Eisenhower's own intentions before they may make a move. That is a considerable handicap when one of their number is placed by chance daily in a spotlighted position where he shows to most advantage. That is the happy spot in which Nixon finds himself. All others, for the time being, are in the shadows.

Churches Urged To Defend Right To Unpopular View

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Churches of the nation today were urged to defend free speech "and the right to the unpopular view" as vital not only to freedom of worship, but also of the free enterprise system.

The plea was made by Leonard W. Mayo, New York, chairman and keynote speaker of the National Council of Churches' first nationwide conference on "The Churches and Social Welfare."

"The files of at least one security agency of the federal government contain the names of some ministers of the gospel," Mayo told the 1,500 delegates, "whose only deviation in long careers of loyal Christian citizenship has been to express vigorously, in their own words, the right to dissent."

Knowland, like Nixon, is a Californian but there is no evidence that he is a Nixon-for-President man. He has teamed up, on occasion, with California's Gov. Edwin J. Knight to lick the Nixon forces in California. Knight is maneuvering now for a bedrock alliance with Knowland to stop Nixon. Knowland is believed to be turning over in his mind a go for the presidential nomination.

Most Republicans were clamoring for months for an announcement that Mr. Eisenhower would run for a second term. His illness hushed that clamor, but it is beginning to rise again. Knowland is not part of it. He was saying months ago that there was no indispensable man, meaning that Mr. Eisenhower was not essential to Republican victory in 1956.

To make sure that salt will come from the shaker in damp weather, coat the inside of the metal top with a thin layer of paraffin. Prick through the holes.

TEAM UP—Frank Sinatra and Gloria Vanderbilt will team up in a movie his Kent Productions Co. will make. Sinatra says he has signed up the 31-year-old estranged wife of Conductor Leopold Stokowski to play the part of the storekeeper's daughter in a Western called "Johnny Concho." He will play the lead. Gloria has acted in stock companies but has never done a film. They are shown here attending the premiere of a musical.

Charles C. Clayton First Lovejoy Journalism Speaker of Year at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Charles C. Clayton, a member of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat staff since 1925, will be the first Elijah P. Lovejoy lecturer in Journalism at Southern Illinois university for the current school year.

Clayton will be on the SIU campus Nov. 16-18, according to a journalism department announcement. H. R. Long, department chairman, says Clayton will address a student convocation Thursday morning, Nov. 17. He will speak to journalism classes and have informal conferences with students the rest of the time.

Unemployment Pay Same in U. S., Canada

CHICAGO — Canada's federal system of unemployment compensation is keeping pace with recent increases in state jobless pay benefits in the United States, according to a study by the Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

Under a new law recently granting royal assent, Canadian workers who contribute to the unemployment compensation fund may receive benefits up to a maximum of $30 a week during unemployment.

This compares with a national range of from $22 to $54 in the United States, with the average state payment about $32 per week. In this country each state has its own program, and in most states only employers contribute to the fund.

So far this year, CCH said, about 30 states have raised their benefit payments an average of $5 per week.

Folded pieces such as table napkins always should be opened out before laundering; this way, dirt can be washed thoroughly from the creases.

He has been executive assistant to the Globe-Democrat publisher since 1953. He began his career with that paper as a reporter immediately after graduating from the University of Missouri School of Journalism in February, 1925. He moved up to assistant city editor in 1928, city editor in 1939, editorial writer in 1941, and 49th State editor for a few months early in 1953 before beginning his present assignment.

Clayton is a member of Kappa Tau Alpha and Sigma Delta Chi journalism organizations. He was national president of the latter group in 1952 and chairman of its executive council the following year. He received the Pull Mall award in 1949 and a medal for distinguished service to journalism at the University of Missouri in 1952. He is the author of a book, "Newspaper Reporting Today" (1947), and has written articles for national magazines.

THE STORY: Viggo Sand's yacht, the Vittoria, has reached Haiti, where Sand hopes to recover gold bullion secreted there by Nazis in the closing days of the war. Sand, however, has kept everyone below decks so the passengers are unable to learn the exact spot of the anchorage.

XVI

In a few minutes, of course, as our eyes grew accustomed to it, the darkness did not seem as nearly total as we had thought.

From the Vittoria's port rail we realized we were staring at the sheer wall of a cliff not more than 50 feet away. We were so close we had to crane our necks to see the top of it. Peering down, we could see the yacht was moored by fore and aft cables flat along the side—what in this remote, unlikely place—to judge by the straightness of the line—must be some sort of quay.

On the other side of the ship there was open water. But not much of it. Not more than 20 yards away there was the suggestion, again, of the line of a quay backed by another, lesser cliff and beyond that the rounded outline of a low hill. Dead ahead, the palisade rose vertically from the water's edge. The Vittoria was lying in a narrow rectangular basin, or slip, which even at night one could see had been carefully and massively engineered.

Forward of the cabins, near the rail, a human shape loomed up out of the dark.

It was one of the sailors, a big Portuguese with a dragon's mustache. He was holding horizontally across his chest an Army rifle, with bayonet.

"Excuse, Senhores. No one is to pass."

"Oh, it's you Goncalves?" said Lynch cheerfully. "Good evening. Senior Meer has gone ashore then?"

"Yes, sir."

We moved off as if we couldn't possibly care less.

Out of earshot, Lynch whispered in my ear, "Bobby, we've got to go ashore!"

"I have an allergy," I whispered back, "to bayonets."

"We could swim."

"You," I muttered in his ear, "are paid. I just came for fun. In tuxedos? In that black water? With sharks? How would we get back?"

"All right! All right!" Lynch cut me off impatiently.

I raised a foot to rest it on the bottom rung of the ship's rail and missed it. My groping foot in its thin evening pumps had got entangled with something. I bent down to feel it with my hands. Where we were standing, a conventional round life preserver hung from a rack against the railings.

Predicts Jalopies Will Be Junked

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (U.P.)—A University of Illinois economist predicted today that "ancient jalopies" now clogging highway traffic will be junked at an increase next year so the market can absorb 1956 new-car production.

But Prof. Hans Brems said getting rid of the jalopies will cut new-car profits for dealers and cause greater depreciation on 1956 cars.

If automobile manufacturers continue to increase production and push 1956 new-car sales, Brems said, dealers attempting to sell their trade-ins will have to cut used-car prices. This will result in jalopies being junked earlier than usual, he said, because a better car will cost so little.

Number on State Payroll Declines

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—The number of persons on state payrolls dropped by 1,405 persons during July, but the payrolls themselves were $384,773.44 higher, State Auditor Orville E. Hodge reported today.

A total of 46,566 workers drew $14,043,157.86 in July compared with 47,971 persons who were paid $13,658,384.44 in June.

Most of the decrease in number of persons employed came at state universities and colleges, which closed their regular sessions in June.

Judges Selected For Fire Prevention Scholarship Contest

Judges for the annual fire prevention scholarship essay contest at the Harrisburg Township high school were announced today by Robertson-Ghent, local insurance firm and sponsors of this annual scholarship contest.

These judges are John Brashcar, special agent for the American Insurance Group of Newark, N. J., James B. Markey, field supervisor for the Travelers Insurance company, and James R.

Handley, State agent for the Agricultural Insurance company.

This contest is under the active supervision of Mrs. Dolores Linde of the Harrisburg Township high school. Any Harrisburg Township high school student may participate in this essay contest, and one of them will win a year's tuition scholarship to Southern Illinois university or a $50 Series E Savings bond, whichever he may choose.

This is the eighth annual scholarship contest sponsored by Robertson-Ghent Insurance agency. Previous winners were Bill Bob Brown, Martha Hancock, Don Williams, Ed Lewellyn, Ronald Lee, Regina McCormick and Virginia Bozarth, all of Harrisburg.

This contest officially commenced Oct. 9, but it does not close until Nov. 14, so any student may still enter the contest.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Sen. Glen Jones Compares Atomic Energy to Industrial Revolution

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—State Sen. Glen O. Jones, R., Raleigh, who sponsored creation of the Illinois Atomic Power Investigation Commission at the 69th General Assembly, feels atomic energy has possibilities, as an industrial factor, of being so far reaching that it might be compared to the industrial revolution of the last century.

The new 15-member commission, personnel of which as yet is still to be completed, will be composed of three legislators, nine representing labor, industrialists and science, to be appointed by Gov. William G. Stratton, and state directors of health, welfare and civil defense ex officio will study atomic power use and make recommendations to the 70th assembly.

Jones and Sen. George Drach, R., Springfield, have been recommended as two of the three legislative members and Governor Stratton and House Speaker Warren L. Wood, R., Plainfield, have their appointments under consideration. The bill creating the commission, carries an appropriation of $10,000 for expenses incurred in its investigation.

The southern Illinois colon, picked by legislative newspaper reporters as the outstanding rookie senator in the recent session, says it is hoped "that we may study the problem of the possible effects the use of atomic energy may have on our economy in Illinois." He is particularly interested in its possible effect on coal and oil and in its relations to labor and health.

"It seems to me," he said, "that safety safeguards will be necessary to protect workers from danger of radiation sickness, and other hazards, implicit in the use of radioactive material on a large scale. Regulation of the disposal of atomic waste may be necessary as a public health measure. We should consider encouragement of its use in areas where it will be beneficial."

"The whole problem is fraught with possibilities so far reaching that it may be compared to the industrial revolution of the last century. Certainly we should consider the question of licensing the use of atomic fuel in Illinois with a view to controlling the impact of it upon our people. So basic a factor as a new source of energy requires much study."

Jones, an attorney, feels that if the personnel of the commission can give the legislature a preview of the role the state will play in the future of atomic energy, "we may be able to guide it into channels that will enable our people to gain the maximum benefits without costly disruption of our present industrial life."

Tips On How To Help Mail Service

WASHINGTON (UP)—If you are not satisfied with mail service, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has some suggestions for you.

He outlined 10 "basic postal pointers" which he said will improve the safety, speed and sureness of mail delivery.

"The users of the mails can help themselves get better mail service by following these 10 suggestions," Summerfield said.

1. Address mail fully and clearly. Use zone numbers and avoid confusing abbreviations.
2. Put a return address in the upper left hand corner of all letters and packages.
3. Mark letter for hand-stamping when mailing coins or other hard objects.
4. Do not mail cash, use postal money orders or checks.
5. Make sure parcels are well packed and wrapped securely. Enclose a card with the address of the recipient and your return address.
6. Check to be sure your mail has sufficient postage.
7. Always place the stamp in the upper right hand corner.
8. Insure parcels and use registered mail for valuable letters. If proof of delivery is required use certified mail.
9. Mail early and often. Separate mail into local and out-of-town bundles.
10. Be certain your correspondents have your correct address and notify them of any change.

Duke is Named Best-Hatted; Ike is Second

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower, more's the pity, isn't wearing any kid of hat these days except occasionally a golf cap to shade his eyes when he's taking the sun on the hospital terrace in Denver.

But when our leader was up and around, he was a mighty spruce dresser topside, and the boost he gave to the Homburg rates him second spot on a new list of the "best-hatted men in the world."

The "best-hatted" selections have been made annually for the last decade or so by Harry Rolnick of Garland, Tex., who has a mercenary interest in these matters because he is a maker and peddler of male headgear.

Leading the list for 1955 is the Duke of Edinburgh, royalty's leader in men's fashions.

According to friend Harry, the duke is not as strongly a pro-with the snap on the brim and on formal occasions, naturally, goes for the silk toppers that look like sawed-off stove pipes.

Harry says the duke's choice of headgear "reflects his royal position combined with a debonaire quality which makes him the best-hatted man anywhere."

Truman Sixth

Mr. Eisenhower is in second place because "his keen style sense reflects an appreciation of the right headgear, for the right occasion. He wears his hats with dignity and authority."

Harry S. Truman, who led the poll a couple or three times while he was in the White House, dropped to sixth place. But he still "has a keen sense of showmanship, which is reflected in his head covering."

Millionaire sportsman Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt is in third place, a "natty dresser who has a fabulous hat wardrobe."

Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, the Democrat from New York, is fourth because of his "conservative taste," and movie star John Wayne who goes for a robust taste in masculine headgear and who was first last year, is No. 5.

The hotel tycoon, Conrad Hilton, who owns almost as many bonnets as he does beds, is seventh. Golfer Ben Hogan comes next because of his "sportsman's sense of color and design."

Frank Sinatra, the male thrush, comes up ninth because he has a "perfect hat sense," and Adlai Stevenson, who once got his pie-

$32,000 Later, Will Grandma Myrl Ever Come Back to Work?

WHOOPIING IT UP IN THE LIMELIGHT, quiz whiz Mrs. Myrtle Power breakfasts with Yankees' Irv Noren. She's a Dodger fan.

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent
ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N. Y. (NEA)—The problem before the Drummond house is this—will Myrl Power, their newly-rich housekeeper, ever come back to work?

Mr. and Mrs. William Drummond keep a TV set burning in the window for Myrl, the 71-year-old baseball whiz who walked off with $32,000 on "The $64,000 Question." But she's been gallivanting around the countryside since she landed in the large lettuce—guest-starring on radio and TV shows, leading parades, sitting in box seats as her beloved Dodgers copped the World Series, going back home to a wild reception in Buford, Ga.

And she's the kind of youthful 71-year-old who positively revels in the limelight. So, Mrs. Drummond says, "We sort of doubt that she'll be back."

There are reasons why she might return, and reasons why she might not, on the Drummonds' dope sheet about Myrl's future plans.

She might come back, because:
1. Before she left the last time, she had a TV aerial installed for the new set she got as a present after she achieved fame and fortune. And the TV set is up in her room, too. People don't leave permanently just after they have a TV aerial erected.
2. All her possessions — from clothes to baseball record books — are still neatly in place in her room.
3. She said she was coming back.

Against these, there are equally persuasive reasons she might not:
1. She's loaded. Very few wealthy people — and her $32,000 is a pretty wealthy bundle — work as housekeepers.
2. She likes being a celebrity, and she's had enough offers to keep her being a celebrity for a while anyhow.
3. The Drummonds somehow "doubt" that she could ever again be completely satisfied in the old routine.

For the Drummond household — the parents and their children, Hugh, 12, Daniel, 9, and Nancy, 10 months — this has been a wild summer. They've been delighted at the good fortune that has come Myrl's way, "but, quite frankly, it hasn't been too easy," Mrs. Drummond says.

The first two weeks Mrs. Power was knocking over small money questions, she was a local celebrity in Roslyn Heights. There were reporters and photographers behind every azalea, and the phone would ring day and night.

"It got so bad," Mrs. Drummond says, "that I asked the operator if she could shut off the calls from 10:30 at night until eight in the morning. She said I'd have to call the business office the next morning, and by then I was so busy I forgot."

After those first two weeks, Mrs. Power moved into the Hotel Edison in New York. Since then, she's come out maybe once or twice a week — but these occasions have been like a visit from grandma.

The Drummonds have gotten "adequate help" locally. They need help since both work—Mrs. Drummond supervises the cafeterias in the Great Neck, L. I., school system and has to oversee the preparation of 6,000 meals a day. But the women they've gotten to replace Myrl, while adequate, have to be driven home each night. And it's not like having a Myrl around the house.

Mrs. Power hasn't been on a spending spree. She's a "determined" woman, and has turned a deaf ear and happy smile to every promoter and salesman who wants to get his hands on her winnings. She's given $300 each to her four children and socked the rest of the money in the bank.

She's got her new TV set, a lifetime pass to Ebbets Field (or wherever the Dodgers choose to defend their world championship next year) and she's got that priceless treasure—fame. She likes being stopped for autographs, having people shout, "Hi, Myrl!" at her on the street, and having her picture splashed around in the papers.

But, for the Drummonds, it hasn't been easy.

Man Refuses Reward For Rescuing Pair

BELOIT, Wis. (AP)—Dan Czynski wanted to repay Christopher Mitchell of Milwaukee for jumping into a lake near Lansing, Mich., to save Czynski and his son from drowning. Mitchell jumped in, clothes and all, despite the fact he was not well and was not a good swimmer, to pull the Czynskis out after their boat capsized.

But Mitchell would accept no reward, not even a new suit. He explained his own son once was saved from drowning.
